Andromeda's Cathedral

Similar to how Starscource Radahn and how he can control the stars, this cathedral is dedicated to Nebulascource Andromeda.

Nebulascource relates to the conquering of the galaxy rather than the stars. Andromeda is the god who controls the supposed galaxy. The cathedral's pinnacles reach toward the constellation. This draws the space towards the sky leaving it to be chained to the ground. Similar to how Andromeda relates to the Greek story of the "chained maiden"

Due to the pressure of the chains holding the structure to the ground, the foundation has begun to crack. These cracks add to the ornament of the structure.
